About CBC and our youth

CBC is a non-denominational, multi-generational church of about 100 people in suburban New York. Our vision is to be a congregation where each of us is a missionary, we support one another like family, and we're digging deeper into God. We value prioritizing God's word, being warm and caring, involving everyone in ministry, and maintaining unity on the essentials while leaving room for a diversity of beliefs on secondary issues. Our youth come from church families as well as a handful of friends and neighbors from other churches or no church backgrounds. A few are homeschooled the rest attend local public schools. Visit www.communitybiblechurch.org to find out more.
